Minor Athlete Abuse Prevention Policy

The majority of child sexual abuse is perpetrated in isolated, one-on-one situations. By reducing such interactions between children and adults, Olympic sports reduce the risk of child sexual abuse. However, one-on-one time with trusted adults is also healthy and valuable for a child. Policies concerning one-on-one interactions protect children while allowing for these beneficial relationships.

Parents/guardians of minors are encouraged to actively supervise youth involved in curling during practices, games, competitions, travel, and/or other events. The more parents/guardians are involved, the less likely it is that abuse situations will develop. All parents of youth athletes are also encouraged to take the free online SafeSport training for parents created by the U.S. Center for SafeSport. This course explains issues of misconduct in sport and helps parents ensure their children have a positive and safe, sport experience. U.S. Center for SafeSport \(safesporttrained.org\) offers access to the free training. Additional educational resources for parents can also be found on the USA Curling website: RESOURCES FOR PARENTS — USA CURLING
